A New Wave

A new wave is sweeping across the campus of Brevard College, and it is a wave of change and of continuity. The new wave marks the beginning of a new school year, the beginning of new challenges, hopes, friendships, and expectations. It also brings the continuation of traditions, renewal of friendships, and a resumption of the endeavor to learn and grow responsibly.

Efforts continue by all who are closely associated with Brevard College to make it one of the finest two year institutions in the country. It is an effort requiring perseverance and vision. The college, under the leadership of the administration, headed by Dr. William Greer, has intensified its efforts to stress the importance of academic commitment and social responsibility. Toward that concern, the administration and faculty extend an invitation to the students of Brevard College to aspire to the pursuit of knowledge and understanding.

The new wave carries with it many challenges and many possibilities. For the students of Brevard College it is a time rich with potential.

It's That Time Of Year Again

The annual Derby Day at Brevard College was an exciting and entertaining occasion held on campus during the week following Orientation week. Students were occupied all afternoon with a variety of sports like volleyball, tug-of-war, izzy-dizzy, tossing the egg, and relay races. Immediately following the races, some students decided to cool off by taking advantage of a "very wet" version of musical chairs. A few students were even brave enough to enter the jello slurping contest, which ended up in a very messy jello war! The afternoon was topped off by a scrimmage soccer game performance by the Guy Tornadoes, a tug-of-war over the creek and the "creeking" of Dean Witek and President Greer.

Trying to get to the finish line, George Bryant stumbles to the ground with acute izzy dizziness.

New Faces

Remember that first day of college? There you were, a lowly freshman, standing in a mile-long line waiting for the school nurse to approve your health form so you could rush back to your new dorm room and unpack before the cafeteria closed for lunch. All those feelings were rushing through you, making your head spin: The excitement of being independent, the anxiety of starting all over again in a new environment, and the fun of learning new names or brand new faces are all a part of what going off to college and growing up is about. This year, freshmen were in for a change from the new administration, headed by Dean Witek. Wednesday, the first day of orientation, each incoming student was given a schedule for that day's events and the following five day's events until classes started. The agenda included orientation meetings, ice cream socials, dances, and ... what was that ... ah, yes ... the mandatory Camp Greenville all day Saturday in South Carolina complete with group games, lunch, dinner, and a square dance. Before Saturday, though, came the meetings. All the freshmen crowded into Dunham Auditorium, smiling shyly at one another and waiting patiently for the meetings to begin; they usually lasted forty-five minutes to an hour with topics like the point system and scheduling being discussed. Friday night, the campus exploded with excitement as word of the first dance got around. The transformation of the gym into a dance floor was made easily, and the people who showed up seemed to have a good time mingling and dancing. Aside from a few hitches, the week dedicated to us, the freshmen, was a success. Growing experiences, fun times, new friends, and new faces — that is what it was all about.

While in line, many freshmen anticipate registering for their fall semester classes.

East Beam

East Beam has a new resident director this year, Sam Rogers. Working with Sam are dorm president, Jay Myers and vice president, Robert Brooks. Additional help is given by the resident assistants: Robert Brooks (first floor), Chuck Putnam (second floor), and Nick Embry (third floor). The directors, assistants, and residents have all participated in producing an enjoyable atmosphere to study and relax in at East Beam.

West Beam

West Beam is the female side of Brevard's only coed resident hall and has a new Resident Director, Mikell Clark-Webb. West Beam is like a big family in that they support one another and do many activities together, such as the big Christmas party which includes all of the Beam girls. If people went cruising through the halls of West Beam they might hear the tunes of George Michael or The Big Chill, or the shrill laughter from tales being told, or the plink of pennies bouncing off the upper two stories' windows. The women in Beam consider their dorm "The Place to Be".

Amy Herndon declares "I'm a Pepper too!"

Green Dorm

Green dormitory is described at times as being fun, loud, outrageous, and different. Under the direction of the new Resident Director, Marty Humphrey, Green houses over 100 men. These men are always busy whether it be in academics, intramurals, or just plain fun. Their rooms reflect their different personalities in many ways. Posters — ranging from sports to movies — stereos, the ever-needed refrigerator, and television sets are among the things the residents of Green use to fill their rooms. Having combined the fun and work into one, Green occupants have created a homey, exciting atmosphere rivaled by many others, but equaled by none.

Jones Dorm

Jones dormitory, the only all women complex on campus, underwent a facelift this past summer. New furniture coverings replaced old, and a fresh paint job awaited the incoming freshman class. This school year, Sharon Waggy and Tammy Jackson supervise over 100 women coming from around the nation and around the world. The lifestyles, personalities and clothes may differ greatly from one Jones' resident to the next, but each feels as if she were a part of one big family.

Stamey Dorm

Stamey is a one of a kind dorm. It has previously served as an infirmary, an adjunct painting studio, and as a storage building. It is a small building, but houses ten students and a faculty member, the Resident Director Jerry Sherrod. The folks at Stamey are a tightly knit group who seem to take particular pride in their "mini" dorm.

Taylor Dorm

Taylor Hall, the oldest men's dorm on campus, once again qualified as being a lively place to reside. Taylor is home to young men from all points on the map and a new Resident Director, Mike Weber. Taylor Hall is an embodiment of a rich tradition to be found at Brevard College; a tradition of close ties, hard work, and occasionally a bit of mischief.

"Whats the deal with all the photographers?", states Doug Robinson.

The Taylor men pull to win.

Day Students

This year, a spirit of unity has brought the day students of Brevard College together. Achievement of this unity included plans for student interaction by participation in Derby Day, intramural sports, and Homecoming. Along with planned activities came the wave of elections to the SGA and Judicial Board. The officers representing the day students this year are: President, Wendy Still; Vice President, Anne Whitmire; and Freshmen Representatives: Diana Dickerhoof and Chris Wiener.

Off-Campus

Brevard College is located in an area that offers much in the way of recreation and relaxation. Close proximity to Pisgah Forest allows students easy access to a very beautiful area. Also nearby are the Blue Ridge Parkway, Caesar's Head, Looking Glass Falls, and Connetsee Falls. The cities of Asheville, Hendersonville, Greenville, and Spartanburg offer "bright light" alternatives to the enjoyment of the area's natural beauty. The town of Brevard offers many quiet pleasures just a short walk from campus.

Homecoming '87

"Are you going to the Homecoming dance? Who are you going with? What are you wearing?" These and other questions were whispered one person to another as the big day — October 10 — approached.

This year, three days worth of Homecoming events were combined, for the first time, with the Alumni Weekend. The Class of '37 had its 50th year reunion. Scheduled activities included a men's and women's soccer game, lunch by the pool, the annual Homecoming dinner, and a dance which featured the presentation of the Homecoming King, Prince, Queen, and Princess with music provided by the group "Heart to Heart". During these events, students mingled with Brevard students of fifty years ago.

Wrapping up the weekend, alumni attended a Sunday breakfast, worship service, and lunch.

Parents Weekend was held November 6-8. The parents were invited to get a taste of college life at Brevard. The Student Government Association sponsored the festive weekend which included: the Women's soccer team competing in the Region X Tournament, the fall drama "The Foreigner", the fifth annual Patchwork Playgroup Craft Sale, and ice cream social, and a talent show. The weekend came to a delightful conclusion with a concert given by the Brevard Chamber Orchestra.

Some parents took time out for sightseeing at area natural attractions.

Halloween

If you missed Halloween at Brevard College this year then you probably missed the most fun-filled time of the Fall Semester. Resident Assistants sponsored hall and campus-wide programs such as: Pumpkin Carvin' Contest, Candy-Apple Sale, and a Trick or Treat Party. Halloween also brought Alcohol Awareness Week to a close with a Mocktail and Costume Mixer at the Storm Cellar, complete with a Non-Alcoholic Bar tended by Ed Davis. The Costume Dance, held in Beam Lobby, was the highlight of the weekend. This dance brought out characters from the dark side as well as from the lighter side of life.

Life And Culture

For an enjoyable one-half credit hour in the humanities, life and culture is just the thing. This fall, the life and culture series opened with a convocation where the student body, faculty, and administration assembled to usher in the new year. Joab Leseayne, the President of Wofford College, was the guest speaker and delivered a spirited, insightful lecture.

For the next event, in celebrating our Constitution's 200th birthday, a well-known former judge spoke about the Bill of Rights and the effect of the amendments on our American heritage. Patriotic music was played by the bands from Brevard College, and Rosman and Brevard High Schools.

A few weeks after the constitution program came "A Visitation from John Keats." Mark Stevenson portrayed poet John Keats in this one-man show which has been performed at Keat's home, the Edinburgh Festival, and the Lincoln Center Library.

Following the John Keats evening, the topic "UFO's Are Real" was discussed. Through statistics and a slide show presentation, those in the crowded Dunham Auditorium saw pictures of actual sightings and were able to ask questions to Nuclear Physicist Stanton Friedman, who headed the program.

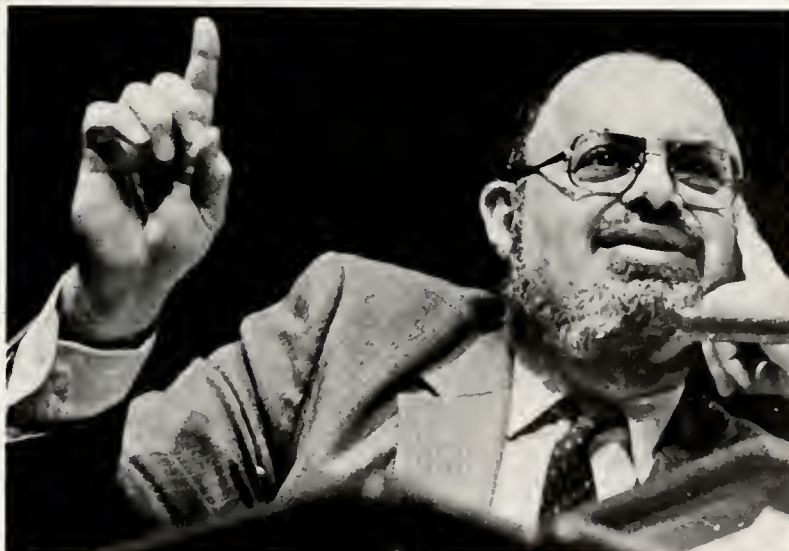

Next on the agenda came the Purguson Family Lecture Series with Dr. Andrew Summers. Dr. Summers gave two lectures on the importance of the modern Christian family living in the secular world.

"The Foreigner" was this year's choice of plays by Professor Sam Cope, director of drama. The performances ran during Parent's Weekend and drew large crowds who seemed to thoroughly enjoy the performances.

The Concert and Jazz bands performed their fall concerts festively. Guest soloist Kristen Kelly, a Brevard College faculty member, was the featured artist for the concert band under direction of Steve Kelly. A hearty round of applause completed the performance of the two bands.

Topping off fall life and culture, Dr. Greer and the B.C.'s Fine Arts Division presented the annual Christmas tree lighting. Twinkling candle lights danced during the service of sacred and secular music, Christmas texts, and the actual lighting of the campus tree.

This fall's life and culture was a success thanks to participation and support of B.C.'s students, faculty, administration, and community members. This is definitely a good way to earn one-half a credit and have cultural experiences at the same time.

The Purguson Family Lecture Series gave us thought provoking information.

"Have you ever seen an UFO?"

Student Union

The Student Union is more than just a building. It is a place where many activities take place. There are movies shown from Star Trek to China Town, which students enjoy as a break from studying. On Wednesdays, there is campus worship during the morning. Some evenings are spent in the Storm Cellar with special guests, such as comedians and magicians. Many students enjoy the video games and shooting pool to entertain themselves. When students need help with any kind of student affairs, it is taken care of in the upstairs office. The nurse is also located in the S.U. to help when a student is sick. The post office is busiest of all with hopeful faces waiting to receive a letter from home with money inside rather than "junk" mail. Then there is the snack bar with hungry students who can not take the cafeteria food another night. Finally, the book store is necessary for those who are needing things to take to class. Therefore, we can see how the Student Union is a vital part of student life in more ways than one.

The Foreigner

Brevard's first drama presentation of the year was "The Foreigner," by Larry Shue. The setting of the play is in Northern Georgia at a hunting lodge. The cast was comprised of Brevard College students: Scarlet Morgan as Catherine, Mike Holcombe as Froggy, Paul Dilberger as the Reverend Dave, and Olin Hatch as Charlie. The community also contributed to the play through the participation of Brevard residents Pat Fuleihan as Betty, Lee Smith as Owen, and Rob Dixon as Elard.

Professor Sam Cope had not had an entirely new cast like this since 1969. "The Foreigner" was his 33rd production at the Barn Theatre, where it appeared on November 5-8 (Parents' Weekend) and on November 13-14.

Tis The Season . . .

This year, Christmas was a festive time for all the students and the community. Doors and windows were decorated throughout the residence halls. All over the campus, trees and buildings were decorated and festively lighted. Though the last week was exam week, the students found time to share the Christmas spirit. The Collegiate Singers gave an inspiring performance along with lighting the campus Christmas tree. President Greer gave a wonderful Christmas party in the student union for all the students. Many of the students shared "Secret Santas" in the residence halls or through different clubs. West Beam had a party and enjoyed the company of President Greer and Joyce and Randy Jackson. The weekend before exams, Top Secret, a band from Tennessee, performed. All together, the students enjoyed their last week of school before Christmas break, celebrating the Christmas season.

Valentine's Day

Valentine's Day was a well celebrated holiday here at Brevard. The big Valentine's Day Dance definitely helped to get things off to a good start. Pat's Mobile Disco provided a variety of exciting music and videos to keep all students in the Valentine's spirit. The auxiliary gym was decorated beautifully with balloons, streamers, and candle lit tables. The 1988 Valentine's Court consisted of King Allen Brooks, Queen Karen Ellis, Prince Ronald Connor and Princess Mia Clark. The dance was enjoyed by everyone and put everyone in the Valentine Spirit.

Each year at Honor's Day, five students from Brevard's freshman class are named student marshalls to serve during their sophomore year. The students are chosen on the basis of their academic achievement and faculty recommendation and approval. Their duties are to lead special ceremonies, such as Graduation, Fall and Spring Convocation, and as ushers of hostesses at school functions. Mr. Ray Fisher, the school marshall, serves as an advisor to the group. To be named a student marshall is the highest honor bestowed on a freshman at Brevard College.

Who's Who

There were twelve sophomores that were selected for the 1988 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges by the Brevard College nominating committee and the sophomore student body.

These students are: Celia Alves, Tom Delucia, Jessica Graham, Lisa Handelman, Kim Norman, Biar Orrell, Teresa Paxton, Robert Rice, Charles R. Sherrill, Karen Strickland, Becky Tapper, and April Woods.

These students were chosen for their outstanding campus leadership, academic achievement, leadership in extracurricular activities, and their potential for continued success. These twelve students from Brevard will join a group of students that were selected from more than 1,400 institutions of higher learning.

Over The Border

It has been said that the English language is one of the hardest to master, and for those of us who have spent many a night racking our brains to come up with a thesis for a paper due the next morning, we heartily agree. The majority of us on campus came from an English speaking background, but there are some among us who are blending in with a native tongue other than English. These students are the foreign exchange students at Brevard College.

Brevard attracts numerous foreign exchange students through the national exchange student company. The company gives students from countries abroad a chance to gain first hand experiences by living in a foreign country like America while learning its language, traditions, and culture.

This year, Brevard houses many exchange students who are actively involved in both extra-curricular activities and required academic studies.

Students from countries like Sweden, Australia, Japan, South America, and others represent their countries well and form a sort of melting pot at the college. According to Yasuko, a student from the southern Japanese island of Fukoka, Brevard has a number of characteristics which attracts exchange students like herself including the fact that Brevard is in a state strategically located between two major tourist states — Florida and New York. Yasuko took six years of English in junior high and high school and took tests judging her English skills before arriving in America as a foreign exchange student. She plans to use her bi-lingual ability to become an English teacher in Japan.

Another exchange student, Jim Oostriesland from Suriname, South America (which is above Brazil), says that becoming an exchange student "offers a lot of opportunity." He is learning English slang which has helped him to be "more understandable." Jim's native tongue is Dutch. Before attending Brevard, along with elementary school training in English grammar and comprehension, Jim traveled to other English speaking nations enabling him to pick up much of the English language he knows. Jim is a science major with a business minor.

The Men Behind Our Success

The Blue Ridge Mountains, changes, cool streams, challenging academics, and determined administration and faculty ... what do all these have in common? One of the top junior colleges in the nation — Brevard College.

This 1987-88 academic year, faculty and staff are more assured than ever that by adopting a more updated disciplinary system and by interacting closely with the students, a greater feeling of unity can be achieved.

"The love of what Brevard College stands for is the idea that Brevard should be a place where people should seek to reach their highest potential," says college President, Billy Greer. According to Greer, a main objective is to attract faculty members serious about their dedication to teach students to learn, grow, and develop. Brevard is "a place where invitations are given over and over to students for this learning and developing process", says Greer.

Working with Dr. Greer are Dean Harry Langley, Dean Norm Witek, and Dean Dana Paul. Dean Langley, who heads academics, feels that the "faculty are spending extra time out of class helping students with work and advising". Also, Langley says that "the writing and math labs are doing better". Dean Witek, head of Student Affairs, said that there have been "drastic changes from the 1986-87 year and the improvements have really been positive, even surpassing our goals and expectations; however we still need work with regard to students meeting their responsibilities". Dean of Admissions Dana Paul believes that the recent increase in personal contact with prospective students has led to a greater sense of well-being among the students both while they are recruited and then once they are here.

Dean Langley thinks, "BC today, GQ tomorrow".

Support Services

Guy Payne, the Gymnasium Supervisor, keeps the equipment in top condition.

Brevard College runs smoothly with a lot of the credit going to the Support Services. These groups of skilled people include Security, Maintenance, Housekeeping, A.R.A. Services, and Gym Supervision. A.R.A. Services staff includes: The Storm Cellar, the Cafeteria, and the Bookstore. These hard working people contribute greatly to the success of the college.

Barbara White, the Student Health Director, keeps our students healthy.

Although under great demand, the hard-working crew of Harry Patterson, Ricky Wells, Reid Plemmons, Jack Hamlin, Mike Dodson, Crawford Lowe, and V.C. Stiles keeps the college running smoothly.

Resident Directors

Resident Directors are primarily responsible for the administration of their building. "R.D.'s", as they are commonly called, have a masters degree in Counseling-Psychology or experience in the Student Affairs area. Resident Directors are responsible for all areas of student life as well as teaching classes. R.D.'s are a very important link between the residents and the administration and they are considered to be professionals as well as friends.

The Pertelote is the Brevard College yearbook and is a record of people and memorable occasions from the 1987-88 school year. The words and photographs within focus on a time that will remain as a special memory for many years.

The Pertelote underwent a change this year as Mrs. Joyce Jackson handed the role of advisor over to Mr. Bill Byers. The Editors for 1987-88 were Amy Ervin and Ed Honzik. Felicia Cope served as Sports Editor and Kenny Monteith worked as the Clubs Editor. Andrea Henry and Terri Jennewine were the very able copy writers. Gene Keenum served as the resident word processor wizard, assisted by Sherry Ogle. Contributing to the layout, copy writing, captioning, and photography were the following staff members: Lisa handleman, Eva Stensby, Mandi Hunter, Stephanie Leatherwood, Cynthia Allen, Lisa Smith, Kim Cliche, Jennie Murphy, and Matt French. Special thanks go to Jerry Sherrod, Mikell Clark-Webb, Jerry Gay (Josten's Rep.) Jock Lauterer, and a very special thanks to Mr. Randy Jackson and Mrs. Joyce Jackson.

CLUBS

At the Transylvania Times, Advisor Jock Lauterer and Editor Biar Orrell discuss the layout for the Clarion.

This year's Clarion, the school newspaper, has bolted to the foreground on the Brevard College campus. With a strong team of reporters and a team of heavy-hitting editors, the Clarion has become a major source of information and communication among the students, faculty, and staff of Brevard College.

Editor Biar Orrell says, "I feel this year the Clarion is making an impact on the campus. Our style is based around the photography. I know a lot of people don't read, so they can at least enjoy the photos. The people that do read have the added bonus of a visual aid."

Jock Lauterer, the advisor, works closely with the editors to create a vigorous work force. The editors include: Kim Belanger, assistant editor; Jeff Turner, feature editor; and April Woods, editorial page editor. Jim Barker is the advertising director.

Reporter Kim Boyle checks for mistakes in an article at a pre-layout meeting.

"I found a typo!" says Biar Orrell to the other editors of the Clarion, and to the advisor Jock Lauterer.

CLUBS

Brevard's Student Government Association has been extremely busy this year. The group is in charge of planning various social activities which serve as a liaison between the students and faculty. At the beginning of the year there were various students chosen to be a part of S.G.A., and represent the student body. The representatives present any concerns or changes the students have to the S.G.A. President Alan Brooks and Vice-President Nick Embry. They in turn present these suggestions to administration. The Judicial Board is made up of all dorm presidents and Don Rett, who serves as the vice-president. This group hears all appeals to any guideline violations. This year's president, Alan Brooks, says that this has been a very good group. Alan feels that S.G.A. had to take on more responsibility this year and the group has been very dedicated.

CLUBS

This year, Ginny Tillotson and Maggie Zednik are co-sponsors for Phi Theta Kappa, better known as PTK. PTK is strictly for junior colleges. Ms. Zednik describes it as a "worthwhile organization for all who are in it." To be a member of PTK, one must earn a 3.5 or higher during the first semester without any D's or F's. New members are inducted into PTK in September or January. Once in PTK, members must maintain a 3.2 average. PTK has 31 members currently involved in the tutoring program and raising money for the spring national convention in Washington, D.C. Ms. Zednik feels that PTK is an "opportunity to build character and leadership. People find it interesting and fun." Lisa Handelman, PTK secretary, said, "I really like PTK; it is a challenge."

Ms. Sharon Waggy, Resident Director in Jones, currently directs the tutoring program. This year there are 31 members in that program. To be a tutor, students must meet certain qualifications, one of which is to be a recipient of a Simms, Jones, Beam, or Duke scholarship. In return for the scholarship, the student performs a service by working a certain number of hours a week, depending upon the scholarship awarded. Tutors work in Math lab, in the writing lab, in the resident halls tutoring, and in the McLarty-Goodson classroom building. Sharon commented that "they seem to have a pretty positive attitude" about helping others. Andrea Henry, the Duke Scholarship recipient, summed up the program's importance; "it's rewarding helping others as well as myself."

Filing some notes, Rachel Makupson works to help pay for her education.

Many students work during the school year to help pay for their tuition. Others work to help pay for the expenses of college life. On these jobs, students gain much experience in these jobs, and also gain a little extra spending money. Various jobs include working in the cafeteria, working in the administration building, and working in the library.

Peer counseling is provided to students at Brevard through the Resident Assistants program. Resident Assistants are assigned to each floor of the residence halls, and are responsible for peer counseling and enforcement of the Uniform Guidelines. These students must prepare for their responsibilities by taking a psychology class in peer counseling taught by Resident Director Tammy Jackson. They work closely with the Resident Directors in co-ordinating educational and social programs for their halls.

The Christian Student Fellowship (C.S.F.) actively reaches out to encourage students to join in the planned events. This year's officers are President, Bobby Payne; Vice-President, Michael Waters; Devotional Chairman, April Woods; Outreach Leader, Mandi Hunter; Inreach Leader, Karen Strickland; and Fellowship Chairman, Russell Schlenker. The fellowship meets for supper every Tuesday and brings in guest speakers who cover topics such as depression, evolution, college life survival, humanism, and others. Along with sponsors John and Barbara Smart and Bud Christmas, the group has gone to contemporary Christian concerts, has had a hay ride and picnic for Halloween, and has had a study break during exam week. In addition, C.S.F. led the successful "Reach Out '87" program in November.

The Wesley Fellowship was a "freshman" to Brevard College this year because 1987-88 was its premier year. Dr. Chuck Zimmerman, College Chaplain and religion professor, sponsors the group which meets on Thursdays for supper in the cafeteria. The group's officers are President, Andrea Henry; Vice-President, Jennie Murphy; and Devotional Chairman, Natalie White.

Each week a guest speaker, usually a faculty member, came to share his/her experiences. Along with the weekly meetings, the energetic group had a homemade pizza party, a cookout, a two-day retreat.

Foreign Language Club members prepare a foreign feast.

Melissa Honeycutt has a new experience eating a cultural meal.

The Foreign Language Club consists of students from French and Spanish classes. These students explore the culture of those foreign countries. They have taken part and have planned many activities such as: a visit to the Biltmore House, a dinner at a mexican restaurant, speakers from foreign countries, and parties. Ms. Pascale, their advisor, teaches these foreign languages and pulls the group together.

CLUBS

"Committed, interested, responsible, and the best". These are some of the adjectives used to describe this year's Student Ambassadors. Twenty-four volunteer students assist the admissions office with perspective students who come to visit the college. The Student Ambassadors are trained to answer questions from the student point of view and to show off the campus. The Student Ambassadors must also assist during the four visitation dates. These student leaders assist greatly with public relations for Brevard College.

The Tornado Club was involved in many activities this year and they support the Tornadoes in many different ways. The club worked at the concession stand during half-time and cheered the team on double-duty during the game. They also contributed bright and supportive posters that were displayed on the walls in the gym. When the cross country teams captured nationals, the Tornado Club celebrated with the team by having a "Welcome Home" party.

A combination of music majors and non-music majors contributed to the success of the 1987-88 Concert Band. Practice, practice, practice was stressed all year said Band Director Steve Kelly. "They care about what they are doing and they are very enthusiastic."

Among this year's performance are their annual Fall concert, a presentation at the U.S. Constitution Bicentennial Celebration, and the N.C. Music Educator's Conference held in Winston Salem. First-Chair clarinet Jessica Graham acts as the concert mistress.

"Jessica is my right-hand-person," said Kelly. "If I need something done, I go to her." Other leadership comes from trumpet players Laura Gooding and Christian Hinkel.

The Jazz Band is composed of five saxophones — two altos, two tenor, and one baritone — five trumpets, three trombones, one tuba, an electric bass guitar, and a pianist, and three percussionists. The Jazz Band performed before a standing-room only crowd in November and also another concert in the spring.

This year there was a new addition to the faculty in the music department in Dunham Auditorium. Mr. Martin is the new director of the Collegiate Singers, the Chorale, and the Show Choir. Mr. Martin definitely has his hands full, but is working wonders with each group. The Collegiate Singers is open to anyone. It is the largest of the three groups and requires no audition; just participation and spirit. The chorale is a smaller group; it is also open to anybody. However, there is an audition that is required. The music performed by this year's group is sometimes more complicated. The Chorale received an invitation to sing at Carnegie Hall next year. The Show Choir is a very select group. It is the smallest of the three groups and the members are auditioned. This group performs popular Broadway and nostalgic pieces on special occasions and when traveling with President Greer. The Show Choir is accompanied by the piano, the bass guitar, and the drums. When Mr. Martin was asked which group he enjoyed working with the most, his reply was, "They are all different — that is like asking a mother which child she loves the most." Music is music — whether it is music theory, band, or singing. It is all part of the same thing and it takes all of the above to make a whole.

The men's soccer team experienced a disappointing 1987 season. The Tornadoes, in seven of their games, lost by one goal. Four of the teams they played were ranked in the top twenty nationally. While younger players gained valuable playing time, the season was frustrating, but respectable. Coach Scarborough commented, "This is one of the best teams I have ever had — we just didn't score goals." Several players received post season honors: David Chun and Joseph Brooks were named to the first team All-Region and All-Conference teams, Buck Rowlee and Bill Stevenson were named to the second team All-Region and the second team All-Conference. Mike Taylor was awarded an honorable mention for the All-Conference team. All in all, Coach Scarborough fielded a talented and highly competitive team once again. Coach Scarborough's record over the past ten years has climbed to 116 wins, 64 losses, and 8 ties.

Attitude, Effort And Accomplishment

The Lady Tornadoes began the year in a new conference, with many challenges ahead. The ladies would be facing a very competitive conference against teams they are very unfamiliar with. The season began with a winning streak of three games, and concluded with a final record of 13 wins and 8 losses. Coach David Taylor commented that the team improved significantly during the final weeks of the season. The Lady Tornadoes advanced to the final game of the NJCAA Region X Tournament by beating Anderson College. Lees McRae ousted the Brevard women in the final game in a tightly contested match. Four players from the Lady Tornadoes were named to the Region X all-star team: Mary Nall, Paige Jackson, Melanie Thompson, and Amy Cearley. Congratulations go out to the Lady Tornadoes on a fine season!

Men Tornadoes Show Their "Stuff"

This year, the men's basketball team was a very dedicated group. At press time, half-way through the season, the team was 8-2. This year the team won the Pizza Hut Tournament. Darren Lawler was selected as the most valuable player, while Kevin Jackson was selected for the All-Tournament team. As of December 15, Darren and Kevin were the players leading in field goal percentage in the region.

The team began preparing for the season in early September. The team members were unselfish and gave their valuable time to make a great team. As Coach Rogers said, "Basically, team unity was the main key in this year's season." The team was very talented and worked hard. All in all there were many tough, opposing teams this year and the Brevard College men's basketball team gave their best effort.

Coach Rogers concentrates intently on the play at hand.

Taking It To The Hoop

This year has been very difficult for the Lady Tornadoes; however they are working diligently to do the best they can. The team's co-captains this year are Alison Stocks and Jill Hair. One of the outstanding players this year is Shelley Ivey, who is scoring an average of 15 points per game. The team will be participating in the W.J.C.C.C. this year, but Coach Jane Long says that it is still too early to predict how the team will do. Coach Long says, "This has been my favorite team to work with; they never stop and they are very dedicated. The unity of the team is great and that is the main thing that keeps the team going." With the team being such a dedicated group, it will definitely be an exciting season.

A Stride Above The Rest

The competitive drive of the 1987 cross country team is typified by Robert Powell's comment, "last year we won second in the National Junior College Cross Country meet and we came back stronger than ever this year." This year's team competed on a NCAA Division I level during the regular season and, at times, it was hard to get into meets because of their great strength. The men worked very hard and dedicated themselves to winning the national championship and they succeeded. Coach Rinker believes that the team, "matured as individuals and as a team, both physically and psychologically." There were also many outstanding individual performances. During the course of the season John Erickson out ran all but two runners, except in the national championships. He defeated three NCAA Division I All-Americans, and also won the Furman Invitational. Jeff Pajak was the top freshman finisher at both the Berry and Region meets. As Coach Rinker says, "Winning is the ability to work hard, to dedicate oneself, and to believe. The 1987 team did all three."

Determination Equals Destination

This year's women's cross country team had another very successful season. For the 2nd year in a row, the team finished the season as the national runner-up. Kelli George was outstanding at the national meet. Finishing 8th, Kelli became the highest Brevard College woman finisher ever at the national meet. Michelle Lambert, the sophomore captain, played a major role in the team development. She led them all of the way. Kelli George, Alice Gaines, and Marjorie Hawk all won All-American. As Coach Rinker tells us, "The team did a solid job all year. We had a young group and it took time for them to unite. The best thing about the group is that they've got time."

It's All In The Swing

With spring just around the corner, the B.C. Women's Tennis Team began its practicing. Coach Long stated that this year she had more girls to show up for the first practice than in years past. Amy Mullins is the only returning player from last year's team. This year, the women will face a tough and challenging schedule. Peace College, which has a nationally ranked tennis team, was added to the schedule. Also, the women will be playing three four-year colleges. The ladies will have to pull together so that they can defend their conference championship from last year.

A Step Into The Fast Lane

The 1988 Men's Track team is dominated by distance runners with a good mix of middle distance athletes. They will compete both indoors and outdoors with both season culminating in a national championship meet. Jeff Pajak, Brad Dodson, Scott Dvorak, and Glenn McDonald will lead the pure distance runners. The middle distance corp has Nick Embrey, Geoff Moore, Jeff Breen, Steve Kandrach, and Dennis Moody. The half mile is another strong area with Allen Brooks, John Hoback, and Chet Reid. The team continues to work hard. As a group, they are running thousands of miles this winter and will reap the benefits of their work later in the spring. As the thermometer rises the time draws near for the Women's Track team to start. As of mid-February freshman Alice Gaines has already qualified in both the mile and two mile for the indoor National Championship in Detroit, Michigan. Sophomore Michelle Lambert will lead the middle distance squad. The distance runners are led by Gaines and fellow freshmen Marjorie Hawk and Kelli George.

After Hour Athletes

After a full day of classes, the dorms form teams to compete in many different sports. Outdoor volleyball started this year's intramurals. Although many close games were played, no team could find the strength to defeat the East Jones Pit Crew. The Faculty took the men's volleyball championship. The games between the men's dorms and the men's faculty were very close, but as always the faculty prevails. Soon, after the students stopped spiking the ball, they began throwing it. Flag Football was the next intramural activity. The Green Gunkies were on the top of the pile in flag football competition. The final game was played between East Beam and Green. This was the second consecutive year that Green went undefeated. The final score was 26-0. Basketball and soccer intramurals were very competitive and heated the Spring Semester.

After a meeting for strategy, the Green Gunkies did a quick cheer for good luck in the next play.

Performing With Style

The 1987-88 cheerleading team started off with one sophomore and eight freshmen. Sandy Rogers, the coach, had the privilege of working with this new group. They began working shortly after school started. The squad had to work extra hard to form a successful group because of the many inexperienced members. Because of conflicting schedules, the squad had difficulty getting together to practice, but as the season progressed the practices became more intense and aggressive. They practiced the development of skills such as tumbling, coordination, and building pyramids. The ladies took time from their very schedule to help promote school spirit. Their school spirit is evident as they perform all the right moves. Cissy Sheffield says, "To me cheerleading is more than a title, it's fun and exciting."

GUARDED WELL BY MOUNTAINS

Guarded well by mountains, enshrin'd in ev'ry heart.
Our beloved Alma Mater, true and fair thou art.
To the friendships that we cherish, to the memories that cling, to Brevard our Alma Mater let us sing.
Let the mountains that surround us ring with voices clear and strong, and the valleys fill with echoes of our song.
